How do we measure time? Is it by the seconds that tick away on the clock? The days that fly by in a year? Or is it something else?

Our time at Littleton Jr. Sr. High School cannot be judged by the amount of time that has passed but rather on the opportunities it has presented. We have been given an opportunity to learn, make friends, experience change, and gain a new outlook on life. These experiences will stay with us always and give us our own special way to measure time.

A MEASURE OF TIME

There is a time for some things, and a time for all things, a time for great things, and a time for small things.

Passing the Time
Student Life

"I don't know, these pre-nups can get pretty complicated." The senior cast of the play tries to decipher the agreement.

"We pray that our town would be delivered from the curse, our daughter from her stupidity, and if its n'ot too much trouble, what's our next line?" Ben Swartz and Sarah Long as Dr. and Mrs. Zubritsky were an important part of the junior cast.

Underclassmen had parts in both casts of last years' pla'y Their young talent gives the school great performances to look forward to.

"My, the rafters look nice this time of year!" Slovich and Mishkin, played by Stephanie Schmitt Stephanie Carter, provided comical enjoyment for the audience at the performance. Although it wasn't a musical, it was a huge success.

"Why are you all staring at me?" Nicole Zoto's character, Sophia Zubritsky, is the center of attention as her tutor and her mother attempt to make her intelligent and therefore break the curse.

"If a man can't curse bread, how's he going to break a table?" No, Crystal, try again! Ben Swartz cracks a smile as Crystal Unger once again misses her line.

Fools

1998 Littleton Jr. Sr. High School Play

Neil Simon's cursed town of Kulenchikov came to life during Littleton High School's production of Fools.

In Fools, schoolmaster Leon Tolchinsky has one month to try and break the town of the curse that has made the people stupid for over two-hundered years. If he fails, he himself will become one of the cursed.

A rewarding experience for all involved, the small cast developed close relationships, and, if nothing else, as Dr. Zubritsky puts it, "the meaning of life is simply twelve."

Reggie's no Jiminy Cricket, but Dexter must be lying again. Come clean before that nose grows right off stage!

Spirit Week

Spirit Week was a huge success with all the grades putting a lot of effort into it. The Senior High participated in the hall decorating competition, while the Junior High joined in for the field day events, the pep rally, and the costume contest. We raised a lot of money through the fundraisers run throughout the week, such as The Penny War and Sneaker Drive. This year's Seniors came away from Spirit Week with the victory, but all the grades gave them a good fight.

Is that John Travolta or John Riberio? Dressing as members of the T-birds Gang, Chris Canty and John Riberio went all out in leather, glasses, and hair oil. Juniors dressed for the 50's for last year's costume contest.

Kimmy Crory smiles down from her own corner of heaven, right here in Littleton Jr. Sr. High School. Last year's Freshmen had fun with a heaven and hell theme during Spirit Week as they earned second place overall for the week's activities.

Having raided second-hand stores and their parent closets, Joey Carl and Evan Like sport costume perfect for the junior class theme: Grease. The efforts paid off when last year's juniors took the fir place prize.

Chow down! Freshman Andrea Faherty and Sophomores Michaela Like and Tom Feehan race to the bottom of their pie pans to gain points. All who participated agreed that the pies would be a welcome addition to the school hot lunch.

Last year's Freshman class prepares for the traditional tug-of-war battle against the seniors. Although freshmen are usually easily defeated, this year they yanked the Seniors over the line in defeat.

Yum! Everyone loves whipped cream pie! Except maybe Mr. Harhen, the big winner of last year's "Throw a Pie at Your Favorite Teacher" fundraiser. This was yet another exciting event during the Spirit Week.

Kyle Patriquin and Tom Feehan aren't remembering how to share as they scramble for spots in the two remaining seats. Although he almost won, Kyle was bumped out of the running, and the Sophomores took the musical chairs victory.

Chaperones (from back left): Mr. and Mrs. Webster, Mr. Novello, Mr. and Mrs. Spalding, Mrs. Ferrill, Ms. Richard, Mr. Harhen, Mrs. Quick, and Mrs. Novello. Some were seen dancing, while others preferred to monitor the dessert table, but no matter what they did, the prom ran smoothly under their supervision.

Bethany Ellis smiles from her seat as she rests her feet on Gil Finch after all that dancing. Most girls bought heels for height, but quickly shed them for comfort once the music started.

Wendy Morrison, Matt Deveau, Eddie Legenza and Nicole Garabedian pause for a pose, their first of many at the Junior Prom. The cameras were flashing all night long.

Prom Queen Tracy Kalukiewicz sits with King Dexter Preston at the 1998 "A Night In Heaven" Prom. Employees of the Boxboro Host cast their vote for King, Queen, and Court Members: Kristen Crory, Sharon Foley, Laura Hetz, and April Dusek.

After buying dresses, doing nails, and curling hair, the night has finally arrived. Meghann Saylor and Christalle Ditullio take a break from the dance floor.

1998 Prom

"A Night In Heaven"

Who could forget the "Night in Heaven" we spent last May at the elegant Boxboro Host? Everyone got decked out and had a wonderful time dancing, talking, and eating the buffet-style dinner and desserts. Afterward, the whole room cheered as the juniors paraded about for the King and Queen contest, which was decided by the Host employees. More dancing, pictures, and then more pictures followed. Sadly at eleven o'clock, the spell was broken, and the 1998 Prom came to a close.

Evonne Krawiec and Astrid Olsen heat up the dance floor with their feathered friends. The prom was fun for everyone, even those who had to run in the rain to turn off their headlights.

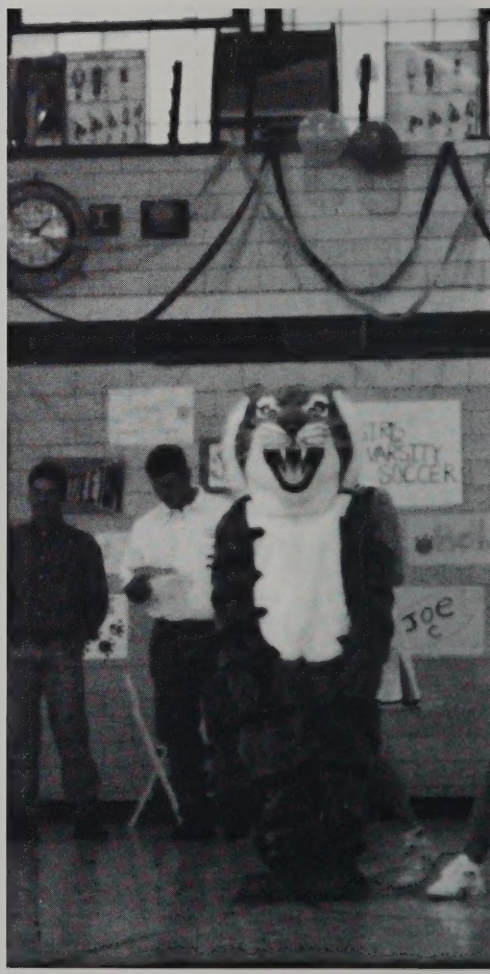
Lindsey Rauker, Sharon Foley, and Kim Clark enjoy the evening air at Faye Park. A prime spot for pre-prom pictures, the park had beautiful trees and, of course, the gazebo, where several people met beforehand.

Homecoming Pep Rally

The annual pep rally. One of the few days we students get to miss class to do something fun. This year's rally was all that and more. As the first spirit event of the year, it ran very smoothly. All the sports teams were recognized, and seasons, whether good or bad, were given a positive twist. This year, the junior high cheerleaders even teamed up with the band and choreographed a swing-dance routine to the tune "Sing, Sing, Sing." Then, of course, the Homecoming winners were announced. King Kyle Patriquin, Queen Laura Hetz, senior court member Shauna Graham, along with underclass members Stephanie Schmitt, Ashley Hartz and Kaitlyn Carroll made their way down to the podium amidst the cheers of their classmates.

Hard at work twisting streamers and decorations, Rachel Ham does her part to prepare for the big pep rally. Everybody wants to be a cheerleader today because they get to miss so many classes! But, cheerleader or not, everyone gets to enjoy their efforts later that day as we enter the festive gymnasium.

Kyle Patriquin, playing the King's role, demand applause from the audience. Elected by the senio class, Kyle, along with his Queen and court, wa presented at the Homecoming football game agains Maynard.



Our newest boost to school spirit, Fang, the tige mascot, was a big help at this year's pep rally. variety of students including Liz Finch, Jessic Theriault, Debby Budra, Casey Lee Doody, and Luk Parsons have worn the striped suit and represente their school so far.

Although everyone else loves the hanging pyramid, Debby Budra and Alicia Knox can't be too excited about their positions. But having others balancing on your back is all part of the fun, right?

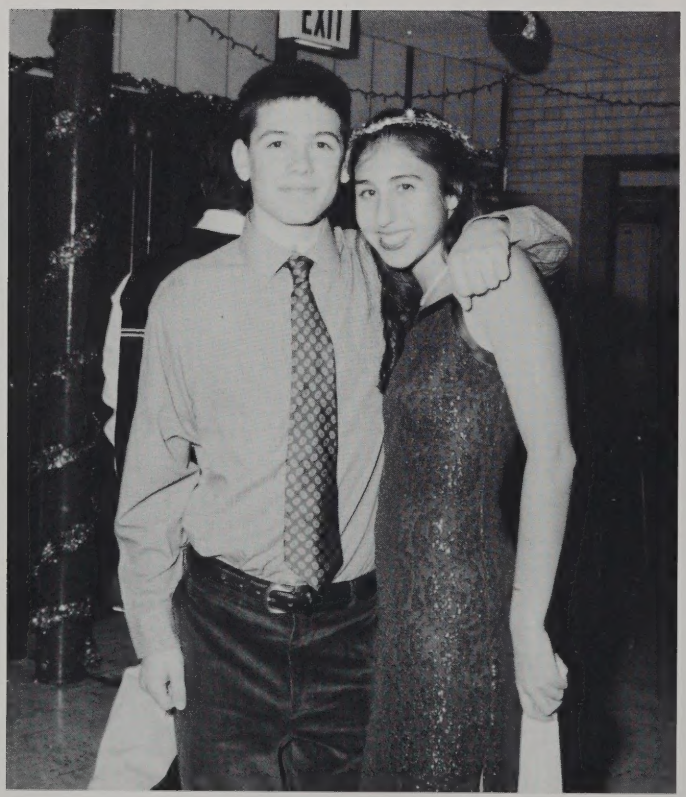
Field Hockey captains Sharon Foley, Kristen Crory, and Bethany Ellis, along with soccer captains Meghann Saylor, Anna Pierce, and Shannon McCumber try to organize their team for the yearly cheer. Though the two teams have a friendly rivalry during the season, the pep rally is a time to unite as successful fall teams.

"V-I-C-T-O-R-Y! THAT'S OUR FRESHMEN BATTLE CRY!" The Class of 2002 screams their chant at this year's pep rally. Although they have a very large class, their voices didn't quite match up to the sophomores and seniors. Not to worry, though, this class will be taking home the wins before long.

"It's just, a little crush..." The crush cheer had been retired, but due to popular demand the fall squad added it to their repertoire. Shouting, "One, two, three—CRUSH," each girl instantly flattens herself out, and hopefully no one gets hurt. It's always a crowd pleaser!

Why do guys go to the Cotillion if they won't dance? At least Greg Billingham, Richard Williams, and Eddie Legenza gave us a smile.

"When will they go away so we can keep dancing?" Rebecca Dodson and her date take time out for a quick look at the camera



Ryan Sullivan and Nicole Zoto take a break from dancing to have their picture taken.

Evan Like and his friend seem to be having a great time as they smile in their oh-so studly suits.

1998 Cotillion

The 1998 Winter Cotillion was a huge success for the senior class. The cafeteria was beautifully decorated in red and silver designs, and the senior class helped to make the perfect winter atmosphere. Everyone — including the chaperones—had a great time. A huge limbo line, dancing the Macarena and doing the Electric Slide are a few of the fun memories people will carry with them.

Lindsey Miller and Lindsay Parks show off their new dresses, one of the many reasons for people to anticipate the Cotillion.

Baseball

After a difficult practice of batting, catching grounders, and sprinting for pop-flies, we take our traditional cool-down run around the bases. Bats, gloves and baseballs are then rounded up until the next day, and practice has ended. Varsity Coach Legault always pushed us up-to and beyond our potential, challenging us at every turn. J.V. Coach Dunn did his part as well, devoting his time and energy to his team throughout the spring. J.V./ Varsity scrimmages were always exciting--for the Varsity. J.V. tried their hardest, yet Varsity always won in the end. Although the baseball program did not take home many wins, we counted the 1998 season as one of rebuilding, and we look forward confidently to our next, hopefully more victorious, season.

Softball

Probably one of the most consistently successful sports at Littleton, softball, had another fabulous season last spring. After securing our Mid-Wach League Championship, we went on to capture the Central Mass Division III title, and eventually ended up as state semi-finalists in a challenging confrontation with a team from Frontier Valley. Coach Knox, who left Littleton to work at UNH, was replaced by Coach Fitzpatrick. In addition to being a hard-working group, we were also extremely superstitious. Such rules as always tucking in our shirts before we stepped on the field, never crossing the bats, and lining up in the same order to slap Coach Crory's hand after a good game were strictly observed. As we always said, we just "wanna play . . . ball".

Mighty, Mighty Crory! Rip it up the alley! Start us on a rally! So we can win!

Track and Field

From sweating through three laps of the Christine Loop to pounding the pavement on the track, the track team practiced hard and won all but one of the league meets. The girl's team placed first in the league meet, but placed second in the league due to the one loss. The size of the boy's team increased immensely from last year and were able to win a few meets. All of the girl's relay teams went to the class and district meets and the 4x400 team placed well enough to go to states. Many individuals went to the invitational meets for their specific race or event. So, whether sneaking a boy into the girl's bathroom or calling Coach Harhen to sing him "We Are the Champions" over the phone, the track team had a fun and successful year.

Senior Dexter Preston takes a quick warm-up lap before running the high hurdles.

Tennis

Piling into our Littleton Limo, rackets in tow, we focus our minds for the match ahead by singing nursery rhymes until Mr. Marr's ears can't take any more. We had a good turnout for 1998 tennis, and it was one of our most victorious seasons so far. Our team qualified for the District Tournament, and singles Shannon McCumber and Jenn Worden, along with doubles teammates Amy Worden and Alaina Ford, went on to play in the individual districts as well. Whether we were aiming at a basket of balls to win free Kimball's ice cream, tanning, or huddling together in shock after a large dog was run over, there was always a memorable moment. Since we had such a young team, we didn't graduate any seniors and look forward to an even better season next year as we continue to grow and improve.

Golf

Every day after school we got into the Littleton Limo bus and took off to play golf. Berlin Country Club was our home course in the spring, and we all fondly remember the food. "Swedish meatballs and beef stew at the Country Club ruled" says J.D. Killoran. We finished off the season with a very favorable record, winning almost half of our games and fine-tuning our skills.

The fall golf team had a huge turnout of over 20 members. We were a young team, headed by sophomore captains Ben Schwartz and Brian Morrison. Setting a precedent, Jess Theriault joined the fall golf team as Littleton's first female golf player, and learned a lot in her first season. Limo rides to practice, cushy, laidback practices, and Kimball's icecream afterwards—not a bad season.

To get on the golf team, you need skill, determination, and a fierce lookin' hat. Fall Captains Chris Wenz and Brian Morrison show off their styling caps.

Head down, Chris! C'mon, a golf captain should know this.

Girls Soccer

The 1998 girls varsity soccer season began at Keene State Soccer Camp under the guidance of Eric Foley who forced us to become a great team. After an easy week of double sessions we began our season with a goal: to win our league. "Anything after that," Coach McEachern said, "would be icing on the cake." Practice consisted of a half lap warm-up, lots of drills, and a scrimmage. Throughout the season we gathered for pizza parties as we prepared for games. We pushed on through the season and crushed all but one team. We won our league and continued on to the state tournament beating Grafton but losing in the semifinals to Leicester. All of the seniors earned League All-Star titles. After the season ended the team received the Referee Sportsmanship Award. The 1998 team consisted of many young players who will all carry on this winning tradition.

Lindsay Parks winds up for a powerful shot, hoping to help her team by scoring the winning goal.

Field Hockey

Laughing, we all race to beat the opposing team in a heated round of "rock, tree, bridge," one of the favorite games of the team. Practice consisted of mostly drills and conditioning, although varsity coach Diane Crory threw in a few fun items to mix things up. With an unprecedented twelve seniors on varsity, we benefitted from this seasoned skill as well as the fresh talent from our underclassmen. Truly, we were the 'team of champions' as we took only two losses during the regular season and clinched the league title for the fourth year in a row. The J. V. team, coached by Ann Lee Ellis, and the junior high team, coached by Sheila Fields, also did very well in their seasons. Although there were many tears at the close of the varsity season and wishes of good luck to those seniors continuing with the sport in college, the 1998 season was extremely successful and enjoyable to all.

We all love practicing corners! Preparing for their upcoming game, Jen Worden, Bethany Ellis, and Evonne Krawiec go over their signals one more time.

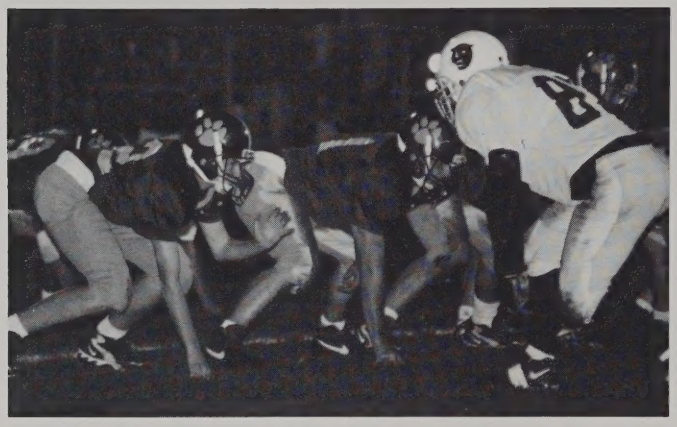
Football

One, two, three—Rrrrippp!! The Varsity players charge through the paper hoop and onto the field as the band strikes up the victory march. As always, the cheerleaders enthusiastically greet the team. Whether it's the fans, the hot cocoa, or the game itself, Friday night football has a great atmosphere that draws the community into the stands week after week. After a year off, our varsity football team joined forces with Bromfield Academy. This year was a rebuilding year, but the tiger enthusiasm was alive and the team had good numbers. Their two-hour practices consisted of play memorization, conditioning, bear crawls, rope jumps, an occasional rugby game, and mudslides when it rained. (Rumor has it that the coaches always slid the farthest.)



Seniors Eddie Legenza and Joey Carl get down in a three-point stance and prepare for the next play. The team placed a lot of responsibilities on their few seniors, and they'll be missed next year.

Dave McGinley brings back the ball after one of his many big runs. Dave attended camp during the summer for football, and this payed off in his excellent display of skills.

Cheerleading

Fall

With the exciting news that the Littleton boys had enough interest to form a varsity football team, the Littleton cheerleaders dusted off their pom-poms and prepared for fall cheerleading once again. Despite the fact that they had missed a season, they returned strong and upbeat. Even though the games were not victorious, the cheerleaders' spirit kept the crowd involved. Qualifying for the league tournament competition, the fall cheerleaders competed very well and were happy with their results. It's safe to say that as long as a football team plays in Littleton, the cheerleaders will continue to come back enthusiastically each year.

Starting their season off with the biggest turn-out in years, the Littleton cheerleading team was able to hold try-outs and select a fine team. Captains Wendy Morrison and Alaina Ford helped to organize the try-outs process. Many girls returned from the fall season and several newcomers joined as well. Mrs. Morrison stepped in aa coach and with their new members and talents, the team experimented with different cheers and more complicated moves. With a young and talented team,cheerleading will certainly grow in the coming years and continue to improve.

Boys' Basketball

The Boys' Basketball team started the season with a new coach and they were forced to adapt to a new system. Although the record doesn't show it, the strong conditioning and excellent coaching benefited the team. The team chemistry improved immensely and important experience was gained for the upcoming years of Mid-Wach League battling. From the strong senior leadership and additional support from the underclassmen, the team had great depth and tremendous bench support throughout the season. With a bright future ahead, we are all looking forward to next season.

Girls' Basketball

For the first time in ten years, Littleton's Lady Tigers made their way to the state championship. This very spirited group covered the gym wall with posters and signs before every home game, encouraging both the boys' and girls' teams to play their best. The girls' team also spent time together outside of school, at movies and a team sleepover. Another unifying moment was when they beat the boys' varsity team in a pre-season scrimmage.

Many members of this year's team prepared for the '98-'99 season by participating in the Littleton Summer League and The Shamrock Tournament. It looks as if their hard work paid off. All excellent players, the team boasts two League All-Stars: Christine Kalukiewicz and Erin Davidson. The Lady Tigers made it all the way to the state semi-finals!

Hockey

With the start of the first period just seconds away, a jumble of padded hockey players crowds around their goalie, Jesse Cook, all of them yelling and screaming wildly. Their excitement expressed, the starting lineup takes the ice while the others skate back to the bench, ready to encourage their teammates to victory.

A first-year team, Littleton Junior Varsity Hockey was not only a young group, but one also faced with a daunting schedule. In addition to tough competition, the games were scheduled during available ice time, which often made practicing between games impossible. But their new "team" status did come with some benefits, such as new bags, helmets and jerseys for all. Despite the difficulties, the team played well and the players are looking forward to next year's season.

With an arm around Ashley Johnston and Michelle Kilpatrick, it looks like Casey Fairweather got himself quite a catch. Grinning to himself, he knows it must be the football jersey.

Lindsey DiTullio and Jill Cantillon enjoy their time away from classes. As many students agree, the social aspect of school is by far more interesting than the academics.

A rose between two thorns. . . oh, whoops,. . . a thorn between two roses, Jesse Cook enjoys English class with his two best buds, Lindsay Parks and Nicole Zoto.

Christine Kalukiewicz smiles big for the camera. This sophomore soccer player is always the most optimistic on the team.

Angels Shannon Dunn and Rachel Ham try to hide from the devil. During Spirit Week the sophomores decorated their hallway as heaven and hell.

Is that some abnormal growth on Josh Poor's tongue or just some fresh breath? Whatever it is, it's very photogenic.

Sharing can be great, as twins Ben and Nathan Hoisington demonstrate by taking advantage of free time in study hall. Being issued your very own graphing calculators during junior year must be fun, from math programs and graphs to Tetris and Mickey faces, the possibilities are endless Stephanie Schmitt takes a big bite of Fitz's famous nitrogen ice cream. Just a little peanut butter, juice, and fruit makes a yummy treat.

It's alive! Juniors Matt Brigham and John Eaton peer into the smoking mass of liquid nitrogen as other chem students look on and get their spoons ready. We're sure it was delicious with Fitz as cook.

Spirit Check! The junior class participates in many school activities, from School Pride Day to a table at the Holiday Bazaar.

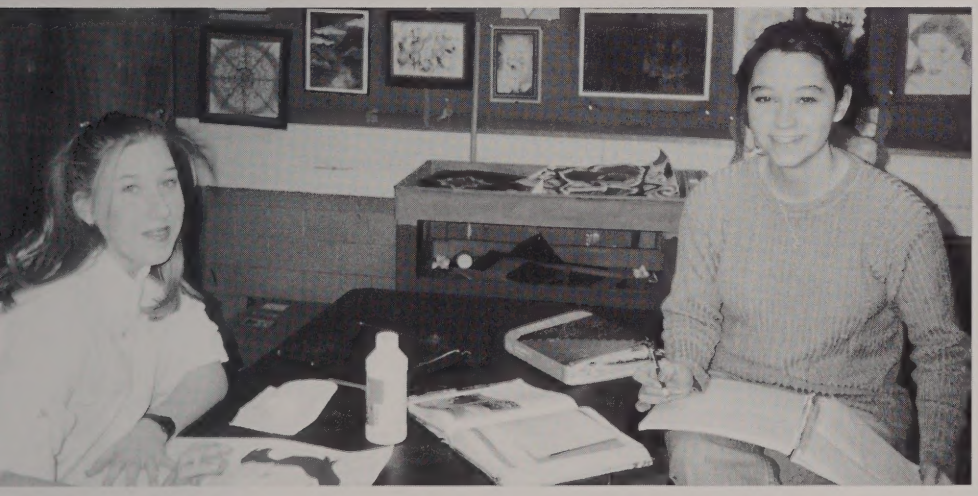
Right: What a great school this is! So warm, close, and friendly. Unable to contain herself, Nicole Burgoyne smiles at the very idea of it all.



Alisyn Murray and Sarah Long take a break from their art projects. Alisyn, like many students at Littleton, uses her talent to make creative pictures. And Sarah, wait a minute, isn't that Spanish?!

It has been a long time that we've been here in this small school in our small town, forming friendships and ties. Now we break them to leave for the real world. Thanks for the school plays, Oklahoma, Anything Goes, Fools, and now Once Upon A Mattress. I hope that next year's play or musical will go over just as well as have the past ones! An early good luck for next year's cast, whatever they may be performing! Hasta luego Señora! You can't run after us to assign homework now!

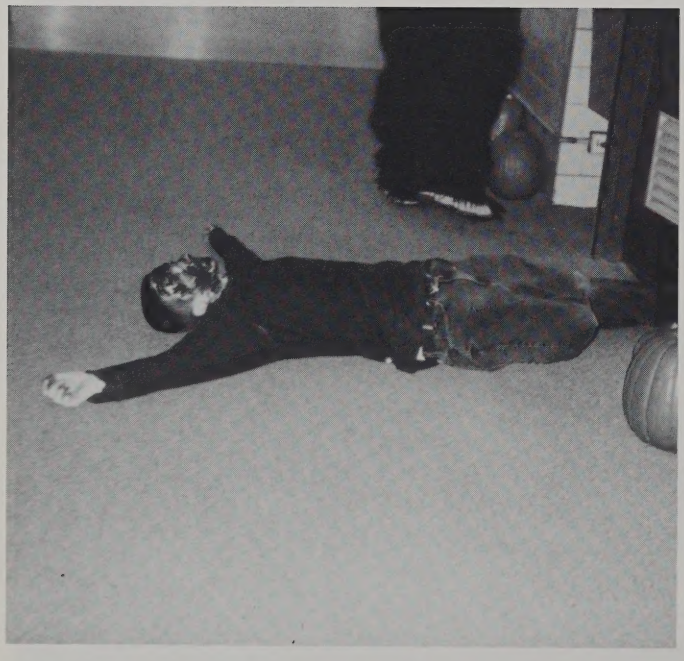
DRESS UP ---- and ---- PUMPKIN DAY

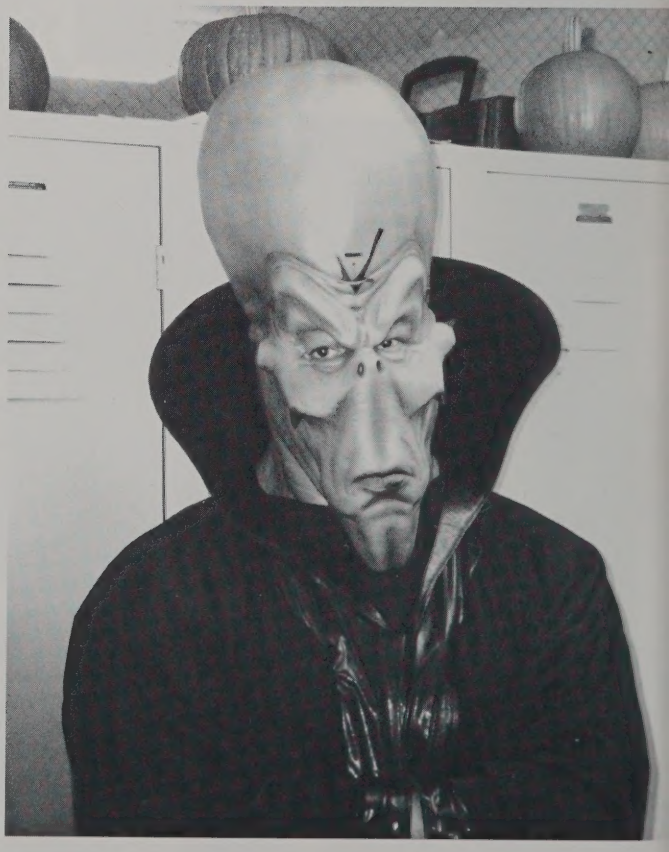
How much is that doggie in th window? Dennis Gibbons lives dog's life for a day.

This year's pumpkin day was the best ever. The costumes were creative and everybody in the class helped unload the pumpkins at 6:30 in the morning.



Oh, no, not Andy! Although Pumpkin day was fun for most people, it did not pass without casualties. The discovery of the body in the hall proved to some students that too much learning can actually kill you.

Joey?? Let's hope so, or else the school has just been invaded by aliens.



After the parade through the homerooms, the senior class got together for a group picture in front of the senior rock.

"Where's Mickey?" Amy Tran as Minnie Mouse, wonders about her missing boyfriend. The famous mouse better show up soon, or he'll have a lot of explaining to do.

Flora, Fauna, and Merryweather, also known as Evonne Krawiec, Nicole Garabedian, and Laura Hetz posed for a picture without their Sleeping Beauty.

Class History

As members of the Class of 1999, we can look back with pride on our accomplishments Littleton Junior Senior High School. With a community as supportive and comforting as that of Littleton, we have been granted many opportunities to excel in challenging academi programs, rigorous athletic competitions, and innovative artistic performances.

We first united as freshmen with our newly elected class officers: President Sharon Fole Vice President Anna Pierce, Secretary Shannon McCumber, and Treasurer Carolyn Hronik. Our strength as a class became apparent as we surpassed the treasury record for the most money made in freshman year. The first, last, and always memorable, yard work fund-raise marked not only our first earnings, but most importantly the bonding of our class.

As sophomores, we faced a tragic car accident which led to the loss of two beloved class mates, Craig Hinckley and Jordan Cone. During this difficult time we learned to develop a trust and appreciation for one another. This closeness helped lift our saddened spirits. We will always keep special memories of the class walk up Oak Hill the following weekend. Our class, unified through these experiences, stunned the student body in the Spirit Week Competition featuring a 60's theme.

Junior year led to more successes and achievements. After many months of planning, the Junior Prom was a successfulevent. Our class shared a memorable night of dancing, food, and fun at the Boxborough Host Hotel. Once again the Class of 1999 eliminated all the class competition during Spirit Week with our phenomenally decorated "Grease" theme hal outstanding dress-up days, and our sheer strength in the tug o' war game. Our class was als responsible for the successful implementation of the first annual Senior Send Off Week.

As was predicted, our senior year started off with a mix of expectations and excitement a we began to plan our final year. Following along with Littleton's many traditions, we successfully exceeded previous classes with our spirit and creativity throughout Costume and Pumpkin Day. The Class of 1999 has always led Littleton's athletic teams, entertained the school through musical performances and our artistic abilities. This year is no exception as we continue to spread a positive influence and high spirited attitude throughout Littleton's halls.

We, the Class of 1999, would like to express our gratitude to the teachers, coaches, conductors, and administrators that have contributed so much of their time and energy to make our experiences at Littleton Junior Senior High School successful and enjoyable. We woul also like to express our deep appreciation for Mr. Michael Novello, our devoted guidance counselor, class advisor, and friend, for his many years of personal contribution to our class It is evident that the efforts made by the staff of Littleton Junior Senior High School have been successful in making our six years as educational, memorable, and enjoyable as any that we will recognize throughout our lives.

Imagine If . . .

MEMORIES OF YOU
By Christopher Canty

A tear runs down my face, but I'm not crying
My memories of you prevent you from dying
You'll never be gone, you're always with me
Your voice, your face, I'll forever hear and see

A picture of you, a note from you I find
Starts memories running through my mind
All the times we spent with one another
You were like my sister, you were like my brother

We went through the grades, we achieved so much
And now like the memories of you we dearly clutch
We walk through the halls your presence is felt
Thinking of you makes our hearts melt

So here we are at Graduation Day
We can't see you, but you're here in a way
You'll graduate not once, but many times
Because you'll graduate with all of us, in all of our minds

Memories of My Best Friend,
Jordan Cone

You will always be on my mind and in my heart.
I will never forget you and all of the crazy things we did.
I have such great memories of you to hold on to.
Love you always, Wendy

Jordan, you always treated me like your little brother and I miss all the great times we had together.
Love, Brian

WHISPER IN THE WIND

By Christopher Canty

We never really lose our departed loved ones
We will always see their beauty in the setting suns
They forever will live in our hearts
With us when we go to sleep and as a new day starts

Listen to the night hear the whispers in the wind
The messages that our lost love ones send
Things they never said when they had the chance to
Talking back to them with feelings from deep in you

Wishing to see them one last time
Wondering why this punishment came to people without a crime
Hearing their voices deep in your mind
Thinking that you hear them coming up from behind

Listen to the night hear the whispers in the wind
The messages that our lost love ones send
Things they never said when they had the chance to
Talking back to them with feelings from deep in you

Seeing their faces in front of us
Hearing their voices behind us on the bus
Turning around they're not physically there
Yet feeling their presence in the air

Listen to the night hear the whispers in the wind
The messages that our lost love ones send
Things they never said when they had the chance to
Talking back to them with feelings from deep in you

Celebrating Life with Craig Hinckley

Craig, you were my first true love and I'll nver forget you and all of the great times
we had together.
Love always, Wendy

Craig, we had lots of laughs together and you helped me to overcome my fear of thunder and lightning.
We surely miss you on the golf team.
Love, Brian

Need You More

I feel more pain and sorrow now.
Your voice and looks have somewhat slipped my mind somehow.
I try not to let my memory leak,
but I am growing very weak.
I can't hold back all my lost tears or any horrible feeling that nears.
A lonesome feeling in a crowded room.
Hatred and happiness weaved together into my memories loom.
Things might change by next year,
but just remember, I will forever love you dear.
Cause I know in my heart that you are always right here.

Love Always,
Your Sister. Sarah

What a Friend

I'd like to take this time to reminisce,
About a truly great friend, that I so badly miss.
You had your own personality, ways, and style.
I can still vividly see your radiant smile.
No one could match your perfect golf swing,
Nor the happiness to a room, that you would bring.
I'll never forget the wrestling move, "Kiss the Knee!"
Or the fun we had throwing apples at Kiabu's chimney.
And biking into Harvard on all of those trials,
That mailbox hanging on chains, we would always nail.
After school we would play basketball, and hackey sack,
And wherever I went, you always had my back.
The Trio was so strong that it would never separate,
If one of us had a problem, we would all contemplate.
If I needed a hand you were always there to assist,
The only kid I knew with screws in his wrist.
You're truly a great friend, one I'll never forget.
An exemplary young man, one I'm glad I met.
It's hard, but I'll try, to remain strong and tough,
Save a seat up there for me Craig, I'll be there soon enough.

A Time Capsule

This has been a great period in all of our lives. Our senior class has become closer than we ever could have imagined. Although some of our time will be spent searching for what lies ahead, many hours we will be spent looking back on the experiences that made our time so special. It is time to keep close at hand the treasured memories from days before, so that no matter what is to come we will have these years. We each have a separate past, but those times that we shared bonded us together. Many say that they can't wait to get of high school, but when the time comes to go our own ways, it will be hard to say good-bye. This book is only a small part, but together with our memories, it is a measure of our time here at Littleton.

The Yearbook Literary Staff would like to extend a special thanks to . . . .

Jostens Representative John Neister and his staff for all their help...Mrs. Taconni-Moore for her help in reading the class wills and the write-ups...Mrs. Chaple for the solid base of knowledge to build on...Ms. Richard for stepping in and putting up with all the stress...Ms. Lordan and the business staff for keeping track of the money...Ms. Richard, Mr. Kurasowicz, and Ms. Robinson for letting us invade their rooms...Mr. Marr for the sports rosters...Dexter Preston and our staff photographers...All the teachers for letting us flash our cameras during class ...All the local businesses and people who supported us with their ads and messages...And last, but not least all the staff, parents, and students who took the time to contribute their words and pictures for our use.
